Navy Ball Preparation

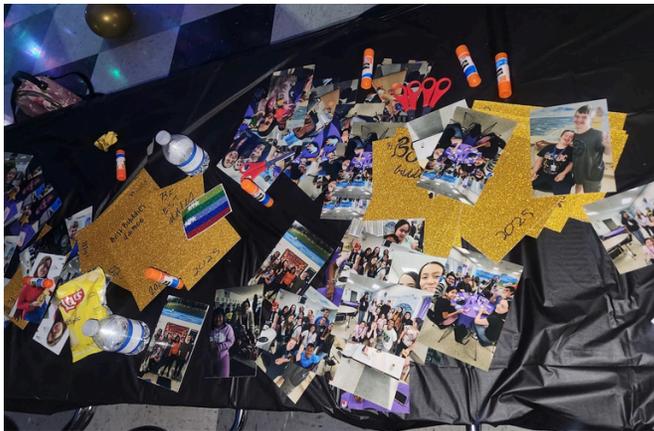

By: Makeila Peart

Riverview High School NJROTC students have been preparing for one of their biggest events of the year; Navy Ball. On Saturday, March 8, the NJROTC program hosted a formal event just for their cadets. "It's a space where the kids that are in this program, no matter who you are- you can be your awkward self in that space," said Lieutenant Watson, one of the Naval science instructors.

All week students have been preparing for the event with some students even running for court. Freshman Chantal Minaya ran for countess, as it was her first navy ball. Students are all excited for the event. "It's my birthday, so I'll spending it with my friends," said Manaya, 9. For all Cadets, the event was a grade so it's mandatory that you show up. Navy Ball was a significant event for NJROTC cadets, emphasizing inclusivity and diversity.

Best Buddies Dance

by: Madyson Demian

Every year the club Best Buddies hosts a dance for the club members and their buddies. This year the theme was under the stars, and it highlighted all the fun elements of a school dance. The club decorated the cafeteria with star decorations, hung up banners, provided an arts and crafts station, supplied food, and even rendered a DJ. The Best Buddies dance was a fun dance the club looks forward to every year. "Our buddies don't get the chance to go to homecoming or prom, so they make this special for them. They bring family and other friends and just have fun," Faith Smith, 12, said. The club made sure the members, and their buddies are always included and also organizes other fun events to ensure an equal opportunity, and an amusing time. "The dance is welcome to any members who joined and the current students/buddies," said Dixiana Murrell.

College Acceptances 2025

by Taylor Day

College is coming up fast for the seniors at Riverview High School as the school year is coming to an end. Many students have applied to many different schools, whether that be university or trade school, there are many different options and opportunities. "I applied to University of South Florida, it's my dream university because it has a really great science program that offers me opportunities to be a lab assistant and obtain some work experience before I'm out of college," said Kaiya Marrufo, 12. There can be multiple reasons as to why students applied to the schools that they did. There are also things they wish they had done to prepare themselves for what is coming up next for them, such as volunteering more or paying attention to when applications were due. "The factors I would say that affected my decisions were scholarship opportunities as well as opportunities to grow for the real world, and one thing I wish I knew before applying is a lot of the deadlines for performing arts happen early, like November and December early," said Marco Rodriguez, 12. As seniors are getting ready to leave their final year of high school, the junior class is rising on up, and there are some things that they prepare for and do for the upcoming year. There can be different things to know when going into your senior year, and Annabelle Bermudez has some advice for the class of 2026. "My advice for upcoming seniors would be to apply to any scholarship, any fee waiver and make sure you don't set your future on a specific school," said Bermudez, 12.

SAT Vs ACT

by Lyly Wyatt

If you're thinking about college, you might be wondering whether to take the SAT or ACT. Both tests are accepted by most colleges, but is one better than the other? The SAT focuses on problem-solving with Math and Reading/Writing sections. The ACT includes those, plus a Science section and moves at a faster pace. The SAT is scored out of 1600, while the ACT is scored on a scale of 1-36. "My experience with the SATs was Ok, it was a silent classroom with minimal distractions. The questions were boring and worded in a way that'll try to confuse you," said Logan Wilson, 12. Most colleges tend to accept both and don't have a favorite. They usually look at them the same and some colleges don't even look at them at all. If your worried about what will look better on your transcript it all depends on what college you're going to and what their requirements are.

Delivery and insolation are on March 15 and sales run until March 8. "I feel positive feeling about this, it helps support use it helps support our family, the football family," said Koby Holloman, 11. Players are all eager to help support the sport they love. "My feelings about his fundraiser are amazing, I think this is a great way to help our team and raise money for new gear and equipment we may need," said Dominic Prsaud, 10.

FCA Movie Night

by Isabella Jolley

The club chose that particular movie because it is a "Fun cartoon that a lot of people know that as so had a good message about god," said Giovanni Cintron 12. Fellowship of Christian Students holds many events; some are a fundraiser and others are just to get the club together for a fun event. "This was a fundraiser for events, and stuff," said Cintron. Holi Celebration

By Sara Ramar

Holi is a popular Hindu festival celebrated as the festival of colors, love, and spring. Holi celebrations take different forms in various parts of India and can last between 40 days in some religions and just two days in others. It marks the victory of good over evil and celebrates the eternal love of the deities Radha and Khrishna. Participants would throw colored water and powder on one another, and societal norms are temporarily set aside during the celebration. "I love celebrating Holi with my family and friends. It's such a fun holiday where being messy is fun," said Dhiya Charath, 11. However, Holi is not just about throwing color on each other, but it's also about loud music along with shouts of "Holi hai!" (It's Holi!) and a bunch of traditional foods including Jalebi, gujiya, malpua and puran poli. "My favorite part about Holi is getting to have fun with the people I love, and also all the delicious foods and sweets we get," said Sanjana Deepak, 11. At Holi's conclusion, when everyone bathes, gets into clean clothes, and visits friends, teachers, and relatives, the ordered patterns of society are reasserted and renewed.

SHARK HIGHLIGHTS

Women's History Month

By Brianna Cookson

Women's History Month was started in 1978, initially started as Women's History Week and set to take place during the week of March 8. In 1987 Congress made the decision to officially designate the whole month of March to celebrating the contributions of women to the many aspects of society. Regardless of that huge step it still tends to be overlooked. So just how much do people know?

"Just all of those things like reproductive health and fighting for our own rights, especially in society right now, unfortunately, just inequality, being treated differently in multiple different places, or just like different kinds of places. I think all of those experiences sort of tie me into this month," said Alexandra Carrusini, 11

"You know, I feel like it's very important because I have a lot of important women around me, like my mom, my girlfriend, of course. So, them having the opportunity to grow from their history really impacts me as well," said Samuel Primm, 10

"The importance of Women's History Month is to celebrate all of the females, the strong and brave females who have come before us and allow us to have our rights, and allow us to actually, like, you know, learn and have a good education," said Charity Williams, 10

"No, it's not celebrated enough because women didn't get enough credit back in the day," said Jonathan Wilshire, 10
